How to get the statement count of the code? Because each statement have some parameters and variables and there are like 200 statements in the function. I wonder how to have the count in a foreach loop instead of checking it by a loop(for,do) A: The simplest way I found to do this is by counting the number of semicolons $totalNumberOfStatements = $numberOfStatements - $numberOfComments - $numberOfBraces - $numberOfArrows - $numberOfFunctionArgs - $numberOfSequences - $numberOfVariableDeclarations - $numberOfStatementsPerLine - $numberOfInStatement - $numberOfOutStatement - $numberOfBlocks - $numberOfIfStatements - $numberOfForEachStatements - $numberOfWhileStatements - $numberOfTryStatements Full code: $n = 0; $totalNumberOfStatements = -1; foreach($source as $line){ if (preg_match('/;+/', $line)) $n++; elseif (preg_match('/\;/', $line)) $n++; if ($n == 0) { $totalNumberOfStatements++; $n = 0; } } echo 'The total number of statements in your code is '. $totalNumberOfStatements; // // Wells // ----- // Base class .well { min-height: 20px; padding: 19px; margin-bottom: 20px; background-color: @well-bg; border: 1px solid @well-border; border-radius: 595f342e71
