PathMan Feature: This tool provides path definitions to all the paths (e.g. C:\Program Files). It is very easy to use and understand GUI. It provides easy to use permissions system. It provides very easy maintenance system. It supports pretty much all the Windows operating systems. You can define paths in any levels and group them in specific folders or you can define the whole program PATH. You can exclude any path from the editing by removing them in the "Exclude" button and delete any path by removing them in the "Exclude" button. You can define "Custom" path which is not in the PATH. You can copy any changes to the PATH directly from this tool.Q: Login to site twice in browser I have a login form that works but when I try to log in the second time I come back to my home page in the browser. I have appended the logout script to end on my own controler, so it must be there. I can not make the second login to log in, if I do make a redirect like /admin/ I can only log in once. I have nothing stored in the session so it should not be storing anything.

System Requirements For PathMan:
